Access – You must use Firefox 3 or above, or Internet Explorer 7 or above. Look at the System Check to make sure you have all the hardware and software requirements. If not, visit the ANGEL FAQs page.

Personal Home Page – Upon logging in, you see your portal into ANGEL. This page is customizable; click Edit Page to add additional “components” (boxes) or rearrange the layout using a drag-n-drop method.

Courses – This box shows a course title only when the instructor has set the course to be available to students.

Power Strip

- 1 – Home - to return to your home page
- 2 – Help - shows online manual, plus link to downloadable manuals
- 3 – Logoff
- 4 – Preferences
  - Personal Information* – create a quick bio and upload your photo; viewable to others via the Roster
  - System Settings* – use Beginner setting to receive extra help; ignore drive settings and mail settings
- 5 – Instant Messenger – to chat live with other users
- 6 – 508 – provides accessibility options, such as avoiding certain colors if you are color blind
- 7 – PDA mode – for using ANGEL with a Blackberry or other such device

Course Tabs – The menu for a course

- Calendar – Shows clickable Milestone due dates if instructor is using them
- Content – Single place for ALL content (the manual refers to this tab as Lessons)
- Resources – Place for components such as dictionary, NNU resources, etc.
- Communicate – Place for components such as announcements, course mail, polls, etc.
- Report – Place to generate progress reports/ grades

Course Guide – This left-side menu area within a course can be expanded or collapsed using the small triangles next to the Home icon. The guide is a quick and easy way to locate new content, unread discussion posts, etc. Its sections are Map, What’s New, Tasks, Search, and About.

Drop Box – The instructor can set assignments to have multiple submissions, use a message box for short notes and/or attachments, and enable peer review. Get instructions, submit your assignment and get your grades and feedback all in the same location.

Discussion Forums – The instructor can choose a mode that requires each student to respond to the question before being able to see other students’ posts. The screen shows best with 1024 x 768 resolution or better. The plus/minus sign next to the Post Title allows you to see the posts indented for easier viewing.

Assessments – The instructor can choose settings such as showing questions one at a time or all at once.

ANGEL Course Mail – May only be used to write messages; all messages go to your NNU e-mail account.
