The Northwest Nazarene University School of Business aspires to be a leading business school by offering a range of graduate, undergraduate, and continuing studies programs in business and related fields. The programs offered in the School of Business are accredited nationally by the Association of Collegiate Schools of Business and Programs (ACBSP) which stipulates various student-faculty ratios for teaching by doctorally and professionally qualified faculty, establishes important program content, and sets service standards. Almost all business faculty members are doctorally qualified in their area of teaching.

The mission of the NNU School of Business is to educate students for the purpose of developing ethical servant leaders who can transform a global society for the Kingdom of Christ. The School accomplishes this goal by providing a strong, scholarly, business curriculum which is delivered through traditional and innovative programs and rooted in the liberal arts tradition. Helstrom Business Center, a state of the art facility built and occupied for the first time in 2002, is home to the NNU School of Business.

Students desiring to major in a business discipline must apply for admission to the program and are interviewed by a panel of faculty members. All business students complete an internship, participate in a capstone business development experience, and take the national ETS Major Field Test to assess content learning before graduation. Every year since 1999, students from NNU have averaged scores at or above the ninetieth percentile on the ETS test, proving the excellence of the business program.

The faculty of the NNU School of Business has collectively established this scholarship to further assist students to participate in their programs.
